

FCC Secretary:

Dear Sir/Madam:

My local newspaper recently reported that Verizon is attempting to renege on a promise to make cell phone numbers portable if you decide to switch your cellular carrier. I understand you may have some input into the ultimate decision. I hope you will not give in to Verizon's scare tactics. I think it's very important that once an individual like me, has established a cellular phone number, that he or she be able to change to other companies while retaining that same number. I hope you and your committee agree.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,

KEVIN WEINSTEIN
